Excess Otsego Water Worries AuSable Property Owners

By Willard Bosserman
County Extension Director

A possible deluge of water to alleviate a high water problem on Lake Otsego is a concern of the property owners along the AuSable.

Perhaps their fears are well founded when the corp of engineers talk of increasing the flow on the north branch up to eighty cubic feet per second. If this flow were maintained until it reached Kellogg Bridge, it would triple the flow at that point.

Charles Fellows, a property owner near Kellogg Bridge, reports the stream is already deeper than normal for this time of year.

The army corp of engineers, evidently, cannot enter the scene under emergency conditions unless the amount of water involved is 80 cubic feet per second or greater.

The original plans were to dredge a channel which would lower the lake by one foot in 22 days. The maximum flow would approach 80 cubic feet per second for the first few days.

Down stream residents fear the damage that this deluge might do.

A trench to carry 80 cubic feet per second at a five hundred feet wide at the bottom, carry four feet of water and be twenty-two feet wide at the top. After the water level is lowered chances are that a trench of that size would never be needed again.

If twenty or less cfs of water were drained out of the lake over a longer period of time a smaller ditch would be needed. It would also serve as a perpetual relief valve for the lake. A smaller volume of water might be more acceptable for every one concerned. In the long run a lower volume might give Otsego lake residents quicker relief than trying to force 80 cfs down the north branch of the AuSable.

Steve Swan, District Fish Biologist, Department of Natural Resources in Gaylord told me their department was also concerned about possible siltation from such a volume of water. He further stated level control gates would be installed at the outlet so the amount of flow could be controlled. They will monitor the water for quality and flow. The lake level depends upon the amount of rainfall. The rain fall for the twelve month period ending April 30, 1971 was 37.44 inches, nine inches above normal. The average rainfall for the AuSable River Basin was 28.30 inches per year over a 35 year period ending December, 1968. Rodney Hutchins, assistant zoning administrator, Otsego County reported a very low level in 1959. This was the result of only 21.38 inches of rainfall the previous year. In fact the precipitation was below average the previous four years.

The U. S. Geological Survey has been keeping water level records on Lake Otsego since 1942. Over the 30 year period the medium reading for the month of May is 1.31. The medium reading for May 1971 was 3.58. This is 2.25 feet above the normal for May. The highest reading on record was made in May of this year.

When the lake levels are low, people build on lots that will give them problems when the lake levels are normal or above. This reflects poor land use policies. But this has happened on nearly every lake in Michigan. The Otsego Lake residents share a common problem with those on Lake Missaukee, neither lake has a regular outlet.

The outlet at Lake Missaukee was filled and built upon, plus the fact a road was built across it. The north branch of the AuSable has a distinct low area to Lake Otsego but no clear channel. The metal tube under I-75 expressway doesn't allow the lake level to be lowered.

Probably people on the north branch of the AuSable wouldn't be so concerned if they could be guaranteed no damage to their property and to the river. If the water were drained off at a more reasonable rate there would be less concern.

A permanent level control structure at the lake would prevent such a volume build up in the future.

Also for the future, better land use policies will be needed to prevent people from building homes in flood plains. Such building endangers the quality of the lake and presents a health hazard.

Houghton Lake residents are paying the price by installing central sewer systems.

Suit Filed To Stop Otsego Drainage

Trout Unlimited, a national conservation organization, announced today that it has filed a lawsuit to block a proposed drainage of Otsego Lake into the North Branch of the AuSable River. Suit was filed in the Ingham County Circuit Court which granted a temporary restraining order barring further work on the drain project. A hearing was set for July 2nd to decide whether the restraining order should be made permanent. TU was joined in the suit by over 25 AuSable River property owners and the Crawford County Board of Commissioners. Named as defendants were the Otsego County Board of Commissioners, the Otsego County Road Commission, Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the Governor. The proposed drain and an associated control structure are scheduled to be built and operated by Otsego County. The project will be financed by the Army Corps of Engineers, the State Highway Department and property owners on Otsego Lake.

Otsego Lake is located a few miles south of Gaylord and covers approximately 2,000 acres. It presently has no inlet or outlet. The drain would run easterly from the lake to the headwaters of the AuSable's North Branch. The North Branch flows south into Crawford County and is regarded as one of the leading trout streams in the State.

The drain was originally designed to discharge 80 cubic feet per second of water from the lake and would have lowered the presently high level of the lake by one foot over a 20 day period. Following protests by Trout Unlimited and AuSable River property owners, however, Otsego County reduced the size of the drain to a 40 cubic feet per second capacity. Trout Unlimited leaders stated that they were gratified by this change but there were still a number of unanswered questions. Trout Unlimited released the following statement regarding its lawsuit:

"The Environmental Report on the Otsego Lake drain which was prepared by the Department of Natural Resources indicates that we have every reason to be concerned. There are several Michigan laws providing for public hearings on this type of project and for the work to be done under a regulatory permit. These procedures have not been followed because of the alleged emergency nature of the situation. We have engaged experts on hydrology and aquatic biology and are asking for enough time to have them study the situation. The hearing will give us a chance to present our expert testimony and publicly air all aspects of this matter. There is some indication that the high water table in Otsego County would tend to maintain the present lake level despite a drain. If that proved to be true the drain might eventually deliver polluted lake water to the river. We are also worried about the high temperature of the water coming from the lake during July, August and September and also about possible siltation, erosion and other physical damage to the stream. We don't want to transfer the Otsego Lake problem to the North Branch or wind up with a problem in both places.

If it were eventually agreed that a drainage connection to the AuSable could be made without damage to the river we would still insist that the DNR, rather than Otsego County, be given controlling authority over the release of water from the lake. If the lake water became unsuitable for trout in the river we would want the DNR to be authorized to close the control gates. As stated in the DNR Environmental Report 'Many of the hazards inherent in this project will not become apparent until after the draining has begun.' If there is going to be a drain we want the ground rules

Economic Grant OK'd For Kirtland

Governor William G. Milliken last Wednesday announced the approval of grants totaling $833,529 by the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission (UGLRC) for economic development projects in 11 Northern Michigan counties.

They were among 22 supplemental grants totaling $1.4 million approved today by the governors of Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin who are members of the Commission that was created by Congress to stimulate economic development in the northern regions of the three states.

The grants were approved by the Commission's members in a telephone poll Wednesday morning.

The Governor said the 14 UGLRC grants for Michigan will supplement other federal, state, and local funds to finance projects totaling $4.6 million.

Projects chosen to receive UGLRC grants are picked on the basis of their potential for stimulating private investments which in turn will create new jobs throughout the region, the Governor said.

Included in the 14 UGLRC grants for Michigan is $48,880 to assist Kirtland Community College to renovate an Army National Guard building at Camp Grayling that it has leased to serve as a vocational education facility and to acquire surplus air defense equipment to set up the new program.

COOP Nursery Open For Registration

The Grayling Coop Nursery is now open for registration for the Fall 1971 semester. If your child will be three or four by December 1, 1971, he or she can join one of the nursery groups. For information, call 348-9824 or 348-7425.

What does the nursery school offer your child? It gives him a keener awareness and enjoyment of the world around him through a variety of child-sized equipment, expressive materials and experience not always available at home. He has a chance for social, play and learning experiences with children his own age. He is given an opportunity for the development of a sense of self-worth and for learning to respect and accept the differences and rights of others. He is guided by a trained teacher and assisting mother which gives him association with adults other than his own parents. There is a new and different sense of comradeship with his parents focused outside the home.

GEN. FRICKE HONORED — Major General Wilbur H. Fricke, Wayneville, Ohio poses with his daughter Judith, wife Dorothy and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Fricke, at the ceremony at Camp Grayling, Michigan, June 23, 1971. General Fricke was awarded a certificate of service to the general at Camp Grayling last Friday. General Fricke completes 35 years of service to the active Army and National Guard on July 5th. (Ohio Guard Photo)

CAMP GRAYLING — Over 1,000 "Buckeye" citizen soldiers paid their tribute here Friday to Major General Wilbur H. Fricke of Wayneville, Ohio in the annual review of troops. The Ohio National Guard units, completing their first week of field training, converged on the Camp Grayling Review Field for the ceremony honoring General Fricke and his family.

Fricke marks the completion of over 35 years of service to the active Army and National Guard when he officially retires July 5 of this year. The Grayling ceremonies marked his last opportunity to observe units under his command; he had commanded units at Grayling for the past ten years. Following the review, the Frickes were honored guests at a dinner and retirement party at the Camp Grayling Officers Club.

In attendance were Brig. General Calvin Lanning, and Brig. General Carson L. Neifert, assistant Adjutants General for Army of Ohio and Michigan respectively. General Lanning presented General Fricke with a certificate of service at the review.

General Fricke began his military career with an ROTC commission from Purdue University in 1936 where he received his degree in engineering. He joined the Ohio Guard shortly thereafter, serving with the 138th Field Artillery of the 37th Infantry Division throughout World War II. Among his numerous campaigns were the Iwo Jima and Luzon where he was particularly commended for his efforts in the battle of Manila.

Upon return to the U.S. he reorganized the 138th and subsequently was promoted to commanding officer of the 371st Anti Aircraft Artillery, executive officer and commanding officer of 37th Divarty. In 1965 he received his second star and became commander of the 37th Infantry Division, a position he held until the 1968 reorganization of the Army National Guard. He then commanded Ohio's Emergency Operation Headquarters which was transferred May 1st of this year into the 54th Support Center, Rear Area Operations. General Fricke presently serves as Chief of Staff of the Headquarters, Ohio Army National Guard. In civilian life General Fricke serves as an electroplating engineer with Frigidaire Corp. branch of General Motors in Dayton, Ohio.

Commander of Troops at Friday's event was LTC Raymond R. Galloway of Canton, commanding officer of the 1st Battalion, 145th Infantry. His unit of 762 officers and men is the largest unit in training here this week. Home location of the battalion is the Akron, Ohio area.

Reviewing Officer for the Review was Col. Robert A. Bloor, Columbus, commanding officer of the 54th Support Center, Rear Area Operations. Also marching were the 37th Signal Company of Lakewood (Cleveland) and the 1484th Transportation Company of Blanchester in southwestern Ohio.

After an extended two-day weekend, the units returned to their training activities and a range firing. Most of the troops will be in bivouac locations thru Wednesday at which time they will return to base camp in preparation for the return trip to Ohio on Saturday.

A candlelight service united Louella M. Millikin and Michael Wolff Fallon in marriage Saturday, June 12, at Michelson Memorial United Methodist Church. The seven o'clock ceremony was performed by Rev. Paul C. Frederick for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Millikin of Roscommon and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Olson of Grayling.

The wedding rings were hand-made by the groom.

The bride wore a floor length gown of ivory organza, princess styled, and adorned with matching imported peau d'ange lace, high neckline, Victorian puffed sleeves with an A-line skirt scalloped at the hemline and a removable tubular chapel train. She wore a toque-styled head-dress trimmed with seed pearls and holding the bouffant veil of silk mist bridal illusion. Her bouquet was of assorted spring flowers shaped around a lucky piece with pink ribbon streamers.

Marcelia Millikin was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a floor length saki dress, sand colored, with dirndl skirt and banded at the empire waist with pink satin ribbon and matching color ruffled lace neckline and short puffed sleeves. She wore a matching pink lace garden hat and carried a basket of variegated spring flowers and pink ribbons.

Marjorie Olson and Geri Olson, sisters of the groom, were junior bridesmaid and flower girl respectively. They were dressed like the maid of honor with hats and flowers the same. Their dresses were made by the mother of the bride.

Walter Fallon, brother of the groom, was best man. Scott Olson, also a brother of the groom, served as groomsman and usher.

ers were Robert and Floyd Millikin, brothers of the bride.

Organist was Debbie Nethers and Beth Ann Millikin, cousin of the bride, was soloist. Presentations were "For All We Know" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The sanctuary was beautifully decorated with candle arrangements in each window and the bridal aisle pews held ribbon bows and lily of the valley. The altar arrangements and reception table were done by the bride's aunt, Kathryn Traylor, of Lake Orion.

Mrs. Millikin wore an A-line dress of apricot with matching accessories and a corsage of blue daisies for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Olson, mother of the groom, chose a blue dress and coat ensemble with matching accessories and wore a corsage of pink and white daisies. The groom's grandmothers, Mrs. Herbert Wolff and Mrs. Esbern Olson, were also in attendance.

Following the ceremony, the bride and groom greeted their guests at a reception held in the church Fellowship Hall. There were about 300 present with those from out of town coming from Farmington, Okemos, St. Louis, Detroit, Southfield, Petoskey, Lovells, Linwood, Oklahoma City, Okla., Indiana, Flint, Germany, Ohio, Lake Orion, Rosecommon, Houghton Lake, Traverse City, Saginaw and Bay City.

The newlyweds are spending a three week honeymoon in Florida. For her going away attire, the bride wore a blue flowered silk pongee cocktail dress with matching scarf and white accessories. She made her own dress.

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Olson entertained 30 guests at a rehearsal dinner Friday evening at Chief Shoppenagons Hotel. Tables held a centered row of spring flowers and candle arrangements.

The bride and groom presented their attendants with gifts and they were toasted by the group.

Firsthand Knowledge

A young, former communist has told, in a copyrighted story in Campus Life magazine, how, as a member of a German branch of the Students for a Democratic Society, he helped to foment mass demonstrations. He pointed out that the trick is to get a few trained, hard core people with an understanding of mass psychology. The hardcore stirs up a crowd until they have to march.

As soon as the crowd is confronted by police, the hardcore throw rocks or molotov cocktails, then disappear to the back of the crowd and cheer them on. If the communist organizers are lucky, the police will fire on the crowd and kill one innocent bystander — just what the hardcore organizers want. The tragedy gives them an opportunity to profess great sorrow for the victim and make an issue of police brutality. They cynically work on the sympathies of the mob while staying safely back from the firing line. As a former participant in such demonstrations, the young ex-communist said the pattern was reminiscent of the incident at Kent University in the United States.

The youthful former communist lost interest in the communist philosophy when he discovered many of his colleagues were merely in the movement for fun or profit. He mentioned one who sold his memoirs at a fat price and became a capitalist after which he would have nothing to do with his former companions. It is sickening to conjecture how much strife and how many broken lives, injuries and deaths have resulted from these mob-rousing tactics described by a youth who speaks from firsthand knowledge.

Abraham Lincoln, On Property

Among the many eternal verities expressed by the great emancipator is the following: "Property is the fruit of labor. Property is desirable, is a positive good in the world. That some should be rich shows that others may become rich and hence is just encouragement to industry and enterprise. Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him work diligently to build one for himself, thus by example assuring that his own shall be safe from violence. . . . I take it that it is best for all to leave each man free to acquire property as fast as he can. Some will get wealthy. I don't believe in a law to prevent a man from getting rich; it would do more harm than good."

Cedar City, Utah, Iron County Record: "Once upon a time there was a teacher who didn't want an increase in pay; a carpenter who didn't ask for union wages; a man who healed the sick and afflicted whether they had insurance or medicare or whether they didn't; who traveled around the country feeding the people, and they crucified him."

Then each member of the class stood up taking turns telling the group of twenty, where they lived, how many children they had and how many grandchildren, or anything happening in their lives that they thought the others would be interested in.

Attending the banquet were Margaret (LaMotte) Balch and husband, Mildred (Hanson) Blaine and husband, Jerome and Loretta Kesseler, Lillian (Ahmen) Houghton and son, Elizabeth (Swanson) Atkinson, all of Grayling; Mabel (Isenhauer) Ostling and husband, Ruby (Kile) Benware of Roscommon; Fern (Chalker) Campbell and husband of Gaylord; Ernest Corwin of Cadillac; Evelyn (Johnson) Pfundt of Bay City; Alice (Malloy) Krause and husband of Harper Woods.

Jack Pine's Stump

Several weeks ago there appeared in this pillar of personal opinion a remark I heard to the effect that there were more pretty girls in Grayling than there were mushrooms. Now this wasn't original on my part. I heard it from Bill the Barber who dispenses medicines, both helpful and harmful, at Chief Shoppenagon's Teepee. When Bill isn't busy giving out sage sayings and doing his job he goes mushroom hunting, and has been seen whispering the names of secret locations to his closest friends (and anyone else who might look like a Morel nut.) Anyway, good friend Lou Cramton, State Representative for the 103rd District (ours) saw the comment and has written Jack Pine the following letter. I dedicate it to Bill:

"I do hope you find out soon what they meant by that comment about girls and mushrooms in Grayling. When I was younger I would have thought anyone that even gave a thought to mushrooms when there were so many pretty girls as there are in Grayling is not well. Even now, in my state of advanced deterioration brought on by the passage of years, I guess I am still worried about anybody who thinks about mushrooms instead of girls. I am too, Lou, but I know where you can get a mushroom cocktail."

— JP —

While on the subject of Chief Shoppenagon's Motor Hotel, there's not an awful lot of people who know what the owner... who doesn't even live here... has done to that place for the benefit of the town and those fine people who visit here. W. L. (Roy) DeWitt of Roscommon is the man responsible. And he's dumped over a quarter million dollars into the place. Quite a bit over, in fact. The hotel itself was totally remodeled, starting after deer season in 1960. The following August the hotel reopened, almost unrecognizable from its former state. It's 22 bedrooms were completely done over, walls, carpeting, even Danish modern furniture and a conditioning. Dining rooms and kitchen were enlarged and remodeled, but even that wasn't enough. DeWitt had also bought the building next door and in March of 1969 closed down the Blue Room. On August first, the Lounge reopened under the name of "The Pioneer Room", a magnificent combination of the old Blue Room and the purchased building. It features a large dining room, excellent bar facilities and live music on the weekend. (It also features Mushroom Bill). In the basement are two large meeting rooms where meals and beverages can be served to private parties. I was surprised to find out that well over a hundred private meetings or parties a year are held in these rooms. — JP —

The background of the Hotel is clouded. Recorded history goes back only to about 1916, but the place was built many years before that, apparently by the old Danish lumberman who was the logging pioneers in the county. Chief Shoppenagon, who never had a connection with the hotel, was a local Chippewa Indian who used to live just back of where Ray's Canoe Livery is presently located. He was a town character, apparently wasn't a Chief, but was well liked and well-known by locals and visitors alike.

— JP —

DeWitt also bought the property behind the hotel and just recently had it paved and put in parking meters which give a token or two to the users. These tokens are redeemable for full value at any participating merchants. Amiable Arnie Mauren, who runs the operation for Roy DeWitt, puts in about twelve hours a day at the place. I asked him what his biggest headache was. There wasn't any, he told me. (Maybe not for him, but old Jack Pine has got several headaches there.) So I asked him what the greatest satisfaction was. "Meeting the different types of people," he said. "I really think that people are great. You see so many types in a place like this, and they all appreciate the service we give and the friendly atmosphere."

— JP —

Arnie is, as the British say, "unlappable". It's almost impossible to rile him, and in a job like that there has got to be a lot of temptations to blow your cool. Anyway Arnie says that not too many people know what Roy DeWitt has done for this town. I know I didn't until I got to checking around. Jack Pine, for one, says to Mr. DeWitt a sincere and heartfelt, "Thanks".

Jack Pine

New Permit Rule for Scuba Divers

Under a new feature of Michigan's long-standing Antiquities Act, scuba diving hobbyists must obtain free permits from the Department of Natural Resources before they explore the depths of the Great Lakes and Lake St. Clair. The new permit rule is not meant to take the adventurous enjoyment out of scuba diving, which has made a "splash" with an estimated 15,000 or more followers in this state. Instead, the measure is designed to protect and save historic artifacts on Michigan's Great Lakes bottomlands which have been disappearing at an alarming rate as a result of the current surge in underwater treasure-hunting. The permit rule does not cover Michigan's inland waters or the Detroit, St. Clair, and St. Marys rivers where bottomlands belong to riparian owners. Scuba diving permits may be obtained free from the DNR's Office of Planning Services in Lansing. They are also available at all DNR district headquarters, except the Rose Lake station, and at the Department's Detroit Information Office at 17800 Woodward Avenue. Other pick-up points for the permits are the DNR's Marquette regional office, its field station at Cheboygan, or Fort Wilkins, Bay City, and Sleeper state parks. —Michigan Department of Natural Resources

"If It Fitz . . ."

Vrooom! That's Grandpa

By Jim Fitzgerald

There's supposed to be a little boy inside every old man, screaming to get out. Lately, a lot of these dumb kids are getting out and buying motorcycles.

The result is grandfathers in crash helmets, completely enveloping both Harley and Davidson in middle-aged spread. When I see an old crock roaring down the road, I am reminded of a refugee fleeing a bombed city in whatever vehicle was available in the emergency. I keep expecting to see his wife trailing along behind, wheeling the family possessions in an old baby carriage.

I know a guy who sells Hondas and one night he took advantage of my bent elbow. He said he'd be over to my house that weekend to give me a ride on a 747 or whatever 2-wheeled monster he was pushing at the moment. I nodded in agreement because he was buying. The next morning, when I realized what I'd done, I jumped out of bed and left town for 3 weeks.

A 60-year-old friend recently told me how he had his Honda going 90 mph on the freeway the day before. His nose was still touching both his ear, and his teeth were bent in.

"You own a 1971 Cadillac with air conditioning and a roof. Why would you want to ride a motorcycle?" I asked him. "If God had wanted man to ride motorcycles he would have given them leather fannies."

"It is exciting," my friend explained. "I like the wind in my face and I like the feeling of risk."

"You can get the same feeling by sticking your nose too close to an electric fan," I said.

I have a 50-year-old Honda-friend who likes to hit the road and the trails at 5 o'clock every morning. He hits them often because he enjoys skidding and slipping and bumping on the roughest terrain he can find. You can track him the same way you'd track Hansel and Gretel except his crumbs are skin.

"You could kill yourself," I told him. "Motorcycling is for young men with nothing to live for. You're old enough to smell the joys of retirement but you could blow the whole thing on that bike. It will be the first time I've been a pallbearer for a man dressed in a black leather jacket with 25 zippers."

"The trouble with you is you have no sense of adventure," my friend snorted, kicking sand in my face. We weren't at the beach but this guy has carried his own sand in an autographed Charles Atlas bag for 35 years.

He is right. My idea of adventure is to sit with my family and pretend to read the newspaper while I am actually watching Raquel Welch on TV. Happily, I can enjoy this type of risk despite the certain knowledge that Raquel would pick a motorcyclist over me every time. There is something to be said about being over the hill and I just said it.

There's a little boy inside me, too. But I only let him out to shoot pool. And if he ever suggests that the Honda shop will cash my Social Security check, I will drown him in Geritol.

Onward and Upward, 4-wheeled.

WASHINGTON, D.C.
CAN'T KEEP THIS TOWN CLEAN, BUT YOU CAN!

your week ahead

BY DR. A.W. DAMIS

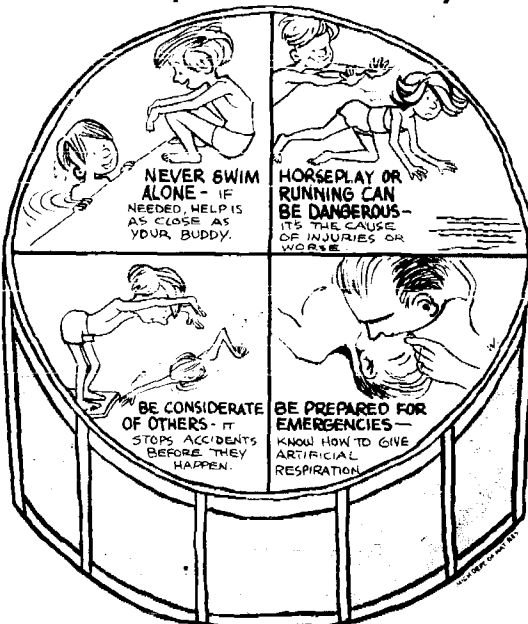

Forecast Period: June 27 to July 3

- ARIES
Mar. 21 - Apr. 19
The thought of not leaving "well enough" alone seems to cross your mind. Shake off the feeling of discontent, stick to your present romance pattern.
- TAURUS
Apr. 20 - May 20
Develop a conscious effort to move into the main stream of activity. Stress good grooming. The probability of meeting someone important is likely. Social success is in the scheme of things.
- GEMINI
May 21 - June 20
According to your chart, the thought of changing your physical appearance should hit you as a fist. Boredom with routine associates might also become a hang-up.
- MOONCHILD
June 21 - July 22
There's a short circuit in your intuitive ability. Refrain from trying to guess what a member of the opposite sex has in mind. Think in terms of materialistic gains.
- LEO
July 23 - Aug. 22
Many members of your sign must be careful of what they put in writing, concerning affairs of the heart. Incidentally, Leo will be under the influence of a glib associate.
- VIRGO
Aug. 23 - Sept. 22
During the present cosmic cycle, it seems as though you can do no wrong, at least, hardly any wrong. So break away from routine.
- LIBRA
Sept. 23 - Oct. 22
Being a winner of sorts, shows in your stellar patterns. You should give thought, however, of curbing your tendency to become arrogant because of this week's accomplishments.
- SCORPIO
Oct. 23 - Nov. 21
Boredom with routine tasks might lead you into becoming accident prone for the next several days. Avoid taking short cuts in order to beat this week's cosmic cycles.
- SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 22 - Dec. 21
Apparently, you have been, and will be, taking yourself too seriously. A cloud of self pity hovers over many Sagittarians. Use a good sense of humor with the opposite sex.
- CAPRICORN
Dec. 22 - Jan. 19
It seems as though you are heading toward a situation or event that you have attempted to avoid. The point! You stand to lose a little in the final outcome.
- AQUARIUS
Jan. 20 - Feb. 18
You are inclined to play a tricky game of self deception. One other thing! Help from a member of the opposite sex, whether direct or indirect, will have strings attached.
- PISCES
Feb. 19 - Mar. 20
For those under your sign so inclined, there's an extremely high probability of new romance. The relationship, incidentally, might take on a clandestine undertone.

Reform Necessary

By Richard L. Milliman

With summer ready to breathe down our necks once again, it is time for one of our infrequent strolls, barefoot through the potpourri:

Tax reform is high on the agenda at the state capitol these days, with school financing, and property tax repeal, and income tax increases, and something called the value-added tax, and who-knows-what-all involved in the deliberations.

The Democrats once more have trotted out their old standby deal: We'll support your increase in the income tax, they have in effect told Gov. Milliken, if you'll help us get on the ballot the question of changing Michigan's income tax from a flat rate to a graduated tax.

So far, the Republicans have had the good sense to say "no deal." The graduated form of a state income tax really scares a lot of people -- your writer included. It's too darned easy, and tempting, to hike the top percentages just a teensy-weensy bit when you get hard-pressed, coming up with a soak-the-rich policy to pay for a help-the-poor philosophy.

The graduated income tax can easily become confiscatory -- that means that it can easily take away all you earn, or a good percentage of it, and make earning even less attractive than it is today.

In my view, it will be a sad day when the graduated income tax is applied in Michigan, or any of its local units; it's bad enough on the federal level. But the idea will keep coming back, like a bad penny, and probably will come to pass some day.

At any rate, the key point in "tax reform" -- and the quote marks are intentional -- should be a regard for the level of government spending. Spending reform is needed even more than tax reform.

Another weekly newspaper has put it this way: "Only as people restrain their desire for government handouts and gifts and insist on economy and moderation in public spending will there be any hope for relief from inflation, high taxes, and high prices."

We can only add -- Amen! And the sooner the better.

We see by the paper that the Little League is in court again.

The most recent case coming to our attention involves a 10-year-old in the state of New York -- or rather, the father of a 10-year-old. The boy was bounced off the team, as we understand it, because his father didn't live up to a Little League rule that each parent had to put in a certain amount of time working for the good of the league -- cleaning up playing fields, and things of that sort -- or the boy couldn't play.

The father in question felt he was too busy to help the Little League, so his boy was bounced. Now a state court in New York has held that the league rule was reasonable, and the boy was to stay off the team. But the father has pledged to take the case on to higher court.

My reaction is -- so what? If cases like this are to receive serious legal consideration, as this one did, no wonder the dockets are jammed. And you know what that means: More judges, and more clerks, and more courtrooms, and on and on -- none of which comes free.

Little League is supposed to be for kids anyway. They ought to stay out of court with hassles like this one.

Another note from New York:

The New York state Legislature has authorized $170,000 to provide bulletproof plastic shields in the galleries to protect the lawmakers while they are in session.

"The realities of violence in our society make it essential we tighten security promptly," said a senate spokesman.

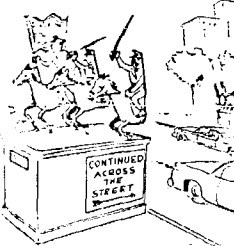

It's a sad commentary on our times, to be sure. It's also one fringe benefit the Michigan Legislature hasn't gotten around to providing -- yet.

Added thoughts:

Two weeks on vacation never seems as long as two weeks on a diet.

Once our opinions get us into trouble, it's our pride that tends to keep us there.

LIVING- AS YOU LIKE IT

and get more from the GOOD YEARS

Here's a note from Florida: "My husband has been retired for several years. We have a modest income, including Social Security, but we don't really have enough. My husband says that he is willing to work, has looked for something to do, and can't find it. He also says that he doesn't think he should take a job because he would probably deprive some teenager of the chance to earn money that he or she needs worse than we do. Is he putting me on?"
Most likely, he is putting you on. It is true that, in most areas of the country, there is a job shortage where teenagers are concerned. Recent college graduates, too, found fewer big company interviewers on the campus scene. Yet, there are jobs which teenagers, for reason of age or other considerations cannot do, and which do not pay enough to attract someone with a college degree. The retired individual, who has the time and the inclination, generally is able to find something to do. The truth of the matter is that many part-time employers prefer to hire the retired because they often get an experienced, mature employee for reasonable cost.
